(c) if so, the measures taken to provide technical education to the poor students during the last three years?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT PR.(SHRIMATI), RITA VERMA]: (a) to (c) Establishment and administration of polytechnics as well as the introduction of vocational courses are under the domain of State Governments. Under the centrally sponsored scheme of vocationalisation of secondary education, funds are released to the States/UTs for opening of vocational courses in the Schools under their control. Since they are either Government or Government Aided schools, nominal amount is charged from students by way of fee. There are also various scholarship schemes, freeships etc. for poor and meritorious students. Similarly through the scheme of Community Polytechnics there is provision to provide training to needy people including students belonging to rural areas free of cost.
